nothing
AFTER CLAUDE FAÏN

silent asymptotes
of the moving
edge

cradles of suitorless
thought
    swift and
fickle instinct

complacent vessels
whose hollowness
    is emptiness
SHAKE a container of mixed nuts, and the larger nuts rise to the top. The same thing happens to a mixture of similarly-sized particles. The larger ones rise to the top, even if they are denser.