"Above the earth", she said,
"I am a virgin, within it, honestly, no". It haunts their speech, the boy and the girl.

They stood within the miniature garden looking at each other. She cried. Why? he asked. But she didn't know why.

Two birds flew up, close to their faces. Without their noticing, night had fallen.
the editor apologises
for the break
caused by the shock of seeing the sun

SUBS: £30/$45 (52 issues + post) 132 Ditton Fields, Cambridge, U.K.